Summary:

Opinions on the use of AI, such as ChatGPT, in education vary widely. Some emphasize the need to adapt the education system and focus on critical thinking and complex problem-solving skills that AI cannot replace. Others appreciate the ability of AI to provide quick answers and assist with complex tasks, though they acknowledge that AI is not always reliable. The application of innovative technologies can increase the efficiency of learning, but does not replace the need for human involvement. Finally, it is recognized that learning styles are individual, and the use of technology in education should be tailored to individual learning needs.
